

To register, click here.

For hotel, click here.

(Deadline, Sept 6. Use group code: EPA)

Working Toward a Sustainable Tomorrow

Understanding & Expanding Compost Infrastructure

Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 28-29, 2009
Hilton Atlanta Airport Hotel, Atlanta Georgia

Keynote Speakers

Jean Schwab, manager of U.S. EPA's GreenScapes program. GreenScapes was designed to help preserve natural resources and prevent waste and pollution by encouraging more holistic decisions regarding waste, water, chemicals, energy and land use.

Nora Goldstein, editor of BioCycle. Since 1960, BioCycle has been America's foremost magazine on composting and organics recycling. BioCycle shows you how to turn organic residuals — woody materials, yard trimmings, municipal solid waste (MSW), food residuals, biosolids, manure and other feedstocks into value-added products.

Featured Speakers

Wayne King, Sr., President, U.S. Composting Council

Jon Johnston, U.S. EPA

Craig Coker, Coker Composting & Consulting

David McDonald, Seattle Public Utilities

Frank Franciosi, Norozymes North America, Inc.

Tim Lesko, GreenCo

Holly Elmore, Green Food Service Alliance

Stephanie Busch, Georgia Environmental Protection Division

Monday, Sept. 28th

Keynote Presentations
Market & Business Development
USCC Education, Training and
State Affiliation
Reception at Serenbe

Tuesday, Sept. 29th

Compost Infrastructure Challenges
& Opportunities in Region 4
Building Composting Infrastructure
EPA Partnership Award for Atlanta's
Zero Waste Zone
Brainstorming on Next Steps
Roles and Coordination

For more information and to register, click here.
Registration fee: $45

Sponsors:

US Composting Council

